WHY. The nature of work has been evolving recently, along with the way workspaces are used. This dynamic has major implications for workspace design and management that need to respond to new challenges. This course will assist students, practitioners and researchers to engage with these ongoing evolutions. Participants will learn to:

_Integrate different disciplines in a sound reasoning around the workplace;

_Manage the planning, programming, and executing phases of a workplace change process;

_Picture the future evolution of workplaces and its impact at the building and urban scale.

WHO.

COORDINATORS & ORGANIZERS

Prof. Andrea Ciaramella, Arch. Chiara Tagliaro, Politecnico di Milano, ABC Department.

Prof. Ying Hua, Cornell University, DEA Department.

TARGET PARTICIPANTS

_Undergraduate and graduate students who are interested in workplace design, strategies, change management, and facility management.

_Researchers who are investigating the social, economic and environmental impacts of the most recent workplace changes.

_Young practitioners who are currently working in the field of corporate real estate management, space planning, and related themes.
